

Digital Evidence' CEO Appointed to the Board of The American Guild of Court Videographers

Casper, Wyoming – May 22, 2007

The American Guild of Court Videographers appoints Digital Evidence Legal Video Services' CEO, Michael L. Jones to the Guild's Board of Advisors.

The Guild's founder, Dr. Gayle Marquette said, "We are extremely selective in appointing members to the AGCV's Board, and we are exceedingly proud that Michael has elected to accept the appointment and serve on our Board."

The American Guild of Court Videographers is the nation's leader in training professional Videographers in all aspects of legal videography.

"I am humbled and honored by the appointment to serve on the AGCV's distinguished Board," Jones said from his Granada Hills, California office.

In addition to the Board appointment, Dr. Marquette informed Mr. Jones that his exemplary contributions to the profession of legal videography have earned him the certification status of Certified Senior Court Videographer.

"I met Michael when he came to Washington, DC to take his certification exam in 2003, and I knew that he was going to excel in the profession of forensic videography, because he was serious about the craft. Every certification class has a valedictorian, and without question, Michael was the leader in his group," Dr. Marquette recalled.

"I really do love the legal arena," Jones states. "I particularly enjoy the forensic aspects of the craft; it's challenging and extremely rewarding. There's no better feeling than assisting your client with discovering latent evidence that can change the entire complexion of the case. The scope of the work is very detailed, and the law is so voluminous; therefore, I'm always learning something new in my career and that's exciting!" Michael exclaimed.

Mr. Jones' firm has been appointed by Federal and State Courts to conduct forensic audio and video evidence analysis on high-profile cases in California. The firm provides expert testimony relative to audio and video evidence, and produces sophisticated audio and video evidence enhancements for mediation and presentation in courts of law. Practitioners nationwide retain the "tech-savvy" firm's services.

Prior to his career in the legal profession, Michael spent more than 28 distinguished years as a television cameraman, soundman, editor and remote broadcast technician. He has produced and directed award-winning documentaries, news and high-profile investigative segments for ABC, NBC, CBS, FOX and WB Television Networks.

Mr. Jones is the recipient of 2-Golden Mic Awards, presented by the Radio and Television News Association of Southern California. He won his first Golden Mic Award in the category of "Best Hard News Videography" for a Fox Undercover mini-documentary.

As a Director of Photography with the Fox Television Network, Mr. Jones was nominated for an Emmy Award in the category of "Best Videography on a Breaking News Story." He was cited repeatedly for superior service during his tenure with the Fox Television Network in Hollywood, California.

Mr. Jones won his second Golden Mic Award in the category of "Best Live Coverage of a Breaking News Story" while co-producing a high-profile news segment for the WB Television Network.

During his tenure with the powerhouse ABC owned and operated television station KABC-TV in Hollywood, California, Michael helped the network win an Emmy Award for “Best Live Coverage of a Breaking News Story.”

Mr. Jones’ production work has been showcased on ABC News’ “World News Tonight” and “Nightline,” ABC-TV’s “Wide World of Sports,” NBC-TV’s “Today Show,” “The CBS Evening News, with Dan Rather,” CBS News’ “Up-to-the-Minute,” The Fox News Channel,” “The NFL On Fox.” and “Fox Undercover.”

Throughout his television career, the Networks assigned and contracted Mr. Jones’ services to provide broadcast coverage of every United States President since the resignation of President, Richard M. Nixon.

Michael is a member of the Los Angeles County Bar Association, and the John M. Langston Bar Association. He is not an attorney.

Mr. Jones’ firm, Digital Evidence Legal Video Services is certified by the State Bar of California as a Provider of Approved MCLE credited activity.
